

Contents

Editors' Introduction	1
In Search of a Critical Pedagogy MAXINE GREENE	7
PART I
Insurrectionary Generation: "The Discipline of the Radical Alternative"	25
An Insurrectionary Generation: Young People, Poverty, Education, and Obama JAY GILLEN	29
Community Power and Student Rights: An Interview with Arthur E. Thomas	37
Violence, Nonviolence, and the Lessons of History: Project HIP-HOP Journeys South NANCY UHLAR MURRAY and MARCO GARRIDO	67
Stone Butch Celebration: A Transgender-Inspired Revolution in Academia WENDY ORMISTON	95
PART II
Participatory Democracy: "Education for the People, by the People"	115
Barack Obama and the Fight for Public Education WILLIAM AYERS	119
La Verneda-Sant Martí: A School Where People Dare to Dream MONTSE SÁNCHEZ AROCA	131
Caswell County Training School, 1933–1969: Relationships Between Community and School VANESSA SIDDLE WALKER	147

Participatory Literacy Education Behind Bars: AIDS Opens the Door KATHY BOUDIN	171
Nationalist Ideologies, Neighborhood-Based Activism, and Educational Spaces in Puerto Rican Chicago ANA Y. RAMOS-ZAYAS	199
PART III
Critical Hope: “The Courage to Pursue the Painful Path”	227
Note to Educators: Hope Required When Growing Roses in Concrete JEFFREY M. R. DUNCAN-ANDRADE	231
A Teacher’s Quest for a Child’s Questions KATHE JERVIS	245
On Jorge Becoming a Boy: A Counselor’s Perspective TRAVIS WRIGHT	267
Nicaragua 1980: The Battle of the ABCs FERNANDO CARDENAL, S.J., and VALERIE MILLER	289
Coda: The Slow Fuse of Change: Obama, the Schools, Imagination, and Convergence MAXINE GREENE	317
About the Contributors	321
About the Editors	325