

CONTENTS

Series Foreword	vii
– Robert B. Schwartz
Foreword	ix
– Garrett Moran
Introduction: Why This Book?	1
– Nancy Hoffman
SECTION I—BEYOND COLLEGE COMPLETION: WHY WORK BELONGS IN THE CURRICULUM
CHAPTER 1 Putting Work at the Center of Community College Completion Reform: The College Mobility Narrative in the United States	21
– Michael Lawrence Collins
CHAPTER 2 Reimagining Experiential Learning and Internships for Community College Students	35
– Pam Eddinger and Richard Kazis
CHAPTER 3 Ethnographies of Work: A Transformative Framework for Career Learning	53
– Mary Gatta and Niesha Ziehmke
SECTION II—GOOD JOBS, GOOD CAREERS
CHAPTER 4 When Can a Job Launch a Career?: What Students Need to Know About the Real Economic Opportunities of Middle-Skill Work	71
– Sara Lamback and Charlotte Cahill
CHAPTER 5 What Makes a Good Job?	83
– Katie Bach and Sarah Kalloch

SECTION III—THEORY AND EVIDENCE: IMPLICATIONS FOR PRACTICE

CHAPTER 6	The Psychology of Working Theory: A Theory of Change for Personal and Systemic Intervention – David L. Blustein and Maureen E. Kenny	101
CHAPTER 7	Work-Related Barriers Experienced by Low-Income People of Color and Indigenous Individuals – Gloria McGillen, Lisa Flores, and Gregory Seaton	113
CHAPTER 8	“Implicit” Skills: Meeting the Challenge of the Twenty-First-Century Workforce – Brent Orrell, with Caleb Seibert	133
CHAPTER 9	Social Capital and the Social Construction of Skills – Nancy Hoffman and Mary Gatta	149
	Notes	167
	About the Editors and Contributors	197
	Index	207