

Contents

Foreword	ix
David Ward
INTRODUCTION
The International Education Landscape	1
Riall W. Nolan and Gilbert W. Merckx
CHAPTER 1
International Education in the United States	9
Gilbert W. Merckx
CHAPTER 2
The Senior International Officer—an Advocate for Change	23
Riall W. Nolan
CHAPTER 3
International Education Leadership: Reflections on Experience	37
Jack Van de Water
CHAPTER 4
The Senior International Officer as Itinerant Professional	53
John D. Heyl
CHAPTER 5
Atlas, Sisyphus, or Odysseus: An SIO Career	65
Gilbert W. Merckx
CHAPTER 6
An Unconventional Path to International Education Leadership	87
Howard Rollins
CHAPTER 7
The Senior International Officer—a Modern Proteus?	111
Maria Carmen Sada Krane

CHAPTER 8
Nine Pretty Hard Lessons from Twenty-five Years as a Senior International Officer	127
Uliana Gabara
CHAPTER 9
Reflection on International Education Leadership Experience at a Small Liberal Arts College	151
Joseph Tullbane
CHAPTER 10
SIO—the Hardest Job You’ll Ever Love	169
Riall W. Nolan
CHAPTER 11
A Contemporary Odyssey to Senior International Leadership	183
William Lacy
CHAPTER 12
Whole Person Education in a Whole World Context: International Education and the Liberal Arts	199
Joseph L. Brockington
CONCLUSION
The Challenge of Internationalization	213
Gilbert W. Merckx and Riall W. Nolan
Notes	225
Acknowledgments	229
About the Editors	231
About the Contributors	233
Index	235