

Contents

Introduction	1
1 ACCOUNTABILITY: HIGH-STAKES TESTING TAKES OVER	7
Snap If You Hear Me: Re-Forming an English Classroom	18
Sarah Donovan, Chicago, Illinois
Nurturing Struggling Learners' Spirits in the School Testing Culture	28
Graeham Dodd, Alexandria, Virginia
What Happens When Common Doesn't Address Everyone	34
Sean McAdam, Boston, Massachusetts
Accept, Reject, Dismantle: The Life of a Testing Coordinator	41
Larissa Pahomov, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania
Alternatives to Standardized Tests: How Performance-Based Assessments Supported a Math Team's Journey Toward AP Calculus	48
Kari Kokka, New York, New York
2 QUALITY: MEASURING A TEACHER'S WORTH	55
Why We Teach and Run: Alternative Certification and the Two-Year Teacher	63
E. R. Santana, New York, New York
Just Starting Out: Evaluating and Supporting New Teachers	70
Jacquelynn Charles, Chicago, Illinois
What Professional Development Looks Like When You Trust Teachers	79
Linda Bauld, San Francisco, California
Using Teacher-Led Research to Improve Instruction	84
Aijeron Simmons, Oakland, California
We Are the Ones in the Classroom—Ask Us! Student Voice in Teacher Evaluations	91
Riana Good, Boston, Massachusetts

3 CHOICE: COMPETITION AS THE PATH TO INNOVATION	97
Socially Inequitable Education: Co-Locations and the Widening of the Achievement Gap	107
Ruth Luevanos, Los Angeles, California
“If This Isn’t the Solution, What Is?”	111
Radha Radkar, New York, New York
What Choice? How Education Reform Is Crushing Our Montessori School	118
Stephanie Schneider, Milwaukee, Wisconsin
Not an Oxymoron: Our Union-Led, Community-Based Charter School	123
Brandon Ligon, Austin, Texas
Districts Innovate Too! A Teacher-Led STEM School Offers a New Model	128
Virginia Rhodes, Cincinnati, Ohio
4 FAILURE: WHEN SCHOOLS DON’T PASS THE TEST	135
On Dissonance and Light: How to Tell a Story of Success or Failure	147
K. Jennifer Oki, New York, New York
Under Pressure: The Unintended Consequences of Education Reform	156
Alex Diamond, Memphis, Tennessee
You’re It! On Being Targeted for Turnaround	164
Megan Behrent, New York, New York
After the Takeover: Critical Educators Need Not Apply	170
Timothy Bernier, Chicago, Illinois
From Whittier to Greenleaf: A Community-Based Transformation Story	179
Liz Sullivan, Oakland, California
5 EQUITY: FROM HERE TO EDUCATIONAL JUSTICE	189
Holding on to Child-Driven Teaching in a Data-Driven World	202
Michelle Gunderson, Chicago, Illinois

Preparing the Whole Student for College	209
Ellen Baxt, New York, New York
This Is What Restorative Justice Looks Like	216
Anthony Bromberg, Austin, Texas
Rethinking Educational Equity: When “Equal” Isn’t Enough	223
Lynne Gardner-Allers, Portland, Oregon
What Got Left Behind: Fourth Graders Uncover Inequity and Find Their Voice	230
John Lockhart and Greta McHaney-Trice, Lansing, Michigan
Notes	241
Acknowledgments	273
About the Editor	275
Index	277